In his project, the children look at the pictures drawn by the children of different countries.

Each of their pictures tells something that is important to them.

Through this project, they will learn some differences in the world.

Later they will pay more attention to things happening in the world.

In this way, Mr. Yamamoto thinks we can have more and more people who want to act for the world.

What is the most important thing to you?

Please think about it for a while.
