Pat: What are you doing?

Daisuke: I'm making small windmills which really work.

Pat: That's great. I think windmills are useful for our future.

Daisuke: I think so too. They produce electricity, but they don't use fossil fuels.

Pat: That's important. Fossil fuels are limited.

Daisuke: Yes. But wind power isn't. It's a kind of energy which we can use more in the future.

And windmills don't give off greenhouse gases.

Pat: So we can say wind power is a clean energy source.
